

Dimitrios Farmakis, MD, PhD, FESC, FHFA

Short Curriculum Vitae

Dimitrios Farmakis, MD, PhD, FESC, FHFA, is an Associate Professor at the University of Cyprus Medical School, head of the Physiology Lab, director of the Basic Sciences and Basic Medical Sciences Undergraduate Programs and consultant cardiologist at Nicosia General Hospital.

He graduated from the NKUA Medical School and received his doctoral degree from the same institution. He specialized in cardiology at Athens University Hospital “Attikon” and was further trained in heart failure at Zurich University Hospital, Switzerland, in cardio-oncology at Bern University Hospital “Inselspital”, Switzerland, and in clinical trials at Harvard Medical School, Boston, USA. He has been elected a fellow of the European Society of Cardiology (ESC) and a fellow of the ESC Heart Failure Association (HFA).

His research fields include heart failure, cardio-oncology and hemoglobinopathy-associated heart disease. He has published 253 articles in PubMed journals (total impact factor, 2444; total citations, 12625; h index, 58). He has served as principal investigator and member of executive and steering committees in national and international trials and research projects and has received research grants and scholarships.

He has a long teaching experience at under- and post-graduate level at the NKUA, the European University Cyprus and the University of Cyprus and he is faculty of the European Heart Failure Training Program run by the University of Zurich and the ESC HFA. He has further been invited as a speaker to more than 230 congresses and authored 70 chapters in medical textbooks. He has also served as an editor for two textbooks.

He sits on national and international scientific committees, guideline taskforces and expert panels. He was a member of the taskforce of the 2021 ESC Guidelines for Heart Failure and an editor for the 2021 Thalassaemia International Federation guidelines. He is the Chairman of the ESC HFA Working Group on Atrial Disease, member of the Board of ESC Council of Cardio-Oncology, member of ESC HFA Study Group on Cardio-Oncology, member of the Steering Committee of the Working Group on Cardio-Oncology of the Hellenic Society of Cardiology (HSC), member of ESC Study Group on Cardiovascular Pharmacotherapy, former President of the HSC Working Group on Cardiomyopathies and Basic Research and former member of the Board and Treasurer of the Hellenic College of Cardiology. Among others, he was the coordinator of the national atrial fibrillation registry in Greece (RAFTING project).

He has received awards from national and international organizations, such as the NKUA Medical School (first award of excellence for the doctoral thesis), University of Patras Medical School (distinguished young cardiologist award), Harvard Medical School (distinction for the capstone project proposal), American Heart Association, United Arab Emirates Government and others.